Rising Above the Rest

What's New

Improving our company is a continual process. We recently updated our website and are now proud to present our new logo. Our new look will help our customers identify with us better and create a more professional appearance. Our updated logo will appear on all of our correspondence, uniforms, and website. Check it out!

Giving Back

Kencor is thrilled to be a sponsor of "BLAST in the Ballroom" for five years in a row. BLAST helps to provide families with financial aid, computers, building renovations, books, furniture and research material for the Academy of Notre Dame.

We're Listening

We get a large amount of calls regarding elevator inspections. To help assist you with your questions, we have included a section on our website specifically for testing and inspections. On our home page, highlight elevator maintenance, and the tab will appear. We even added a graph showing state information and provided helpful links. We hope this will help!

Helpful Tip

With a variety of elevators and different makes and models, having the proper set of prints on-site is imperative. Mechanics often refer to electrical prints to assist with troubleshooting, and repair work. Having the proper prints can affect the down time of an elevator. If you do not have a set of prints on-site, we can help you to obtain the proper prints. We have numerous prints in our library and access to others. If you're not sure, ask your mechanic.

Product Spotlight

Check out our new product spotlight. The next page has detailed information about an innovative product known as a Phone Consolidator. We will showcase a different product with every newsletter and offer it at a special discounted price for a limited time. Contact us with any questions.
